

BALFOUR AND PARTY WELCOMED TO WASHINGTON ON GRAVE MISSION

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23.—The American capital yesterday extended a simple but heartfelt welcome to the British minister for foreign affairs, Arthur J. Balfour and the other members of the British mission which has come to Washington, as Mr. Balfour himself expressed it, "to make co-operation more effective between those who are striving—with all their power—to bring about a lasting peace by the only means that can secure it—namely, a successful war."

The American, British and French delegations were housed in three great mansions in the plaza adjoining the White House. There was no music to greet the visitors. The original plan including the presence of the marine bands having been amended to conform to the view expressed by President Wilson and Secretary Lansing that this was a grave and serious event in American history and not to be regarded as a festive affair.

Detectors swarmed everywhere through the crowd and at various points where any danger might lurk. The precautions taken to insure the safety of the nation's visitors exceeded anything ever known in the history of the district.

Exactly at three o'clock the train bearing the British commissioners drew into the station. Aside from the guards only a very few persons had been permitted to enter the train shed. These included Secretary Lansing, Frank L. Polk, counselor for the state department; William Phillips, assistant secretary of state, and Hugh Gibson, secretary of the American legation at Brussels, who distinguished himself by his extraordinary efforts to save the life of Edith Cavell.

Representing the British government were Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador and attaches of the embassy.

As the special train stopped two of the military officers of the British party stepped to the floor of the shed preceding immediately Mr. Balfour. The minister for foreign affairs descended, hat in hand, and was immediately presented by the British ambassador to Secretary Lansing. The foreign minister walked uncovered with head erect, smiled his greetings to hand clapping and cheering of the people within the concourse.

The party passed into the president's room, at the entrance of which a number of automobiles had been brought up in line for their reception.

When the signal was given for the start the cavalry guard closed round and enveloped the party. This was the same guard which President Wilson had chosen as his personal escort on the occasion of the last inaugural, and the troops were disposed in the same way as on that occasion so as to afford the extreme measure of protection to the visitors.

As the party started on its way up Massachusetts avenue, the crowds burst into cheers and applause, to which Mr. Balfour and the others responded by bowing right and left. The route lay up Massachusetts avenue to Sixteenth street, the stately thoroughfare for some years known officially as avenue of the presidents, to the palatial MacVeagh home just beyond the crest of a hill and within a few hundred yards of the French embassy building. Passing the latter the visitors were greeted by Ambassador Jusserand, who with Madame Jusserand and the full staff of the embassy, saluted them from the portico over the entrance.

A detachment of regular soldiers will remain on guard constantly around the MacVeagh residence during the stay of Mr. Balfour. Tents for their use have been pitched near the house, while a police captain who is a native of England, will be in charge of the police detail.

The British commissioners got secretly away from England, April 11, on a fast cruiser protected in every possible way from German spies who might have got word to lurking submarines. The voyage was entirely uneventful, however, and the party arrived at Halifax Friday. Crossing to St. John a special train took them to the little Canadian town of McAdam, just across the international bridge which Werner Horn, a former German officer, attempted to blow up.

Saturday the party arrived at the frontier town of Vanceboro, where the American reception commission welcomed them to American soil. The various members of the commission, including Mr. Balfour himself, have brought with them much of that quiet suffering and pain that has afflicted England during the last two and a half years.

"Even in the few hours we have been in the United States," Mr. Balfour said, "we have been struck with the atmosphere of calm and peacefulness which naturally prevails. We feel ourselves far removed here from the stress and horror that Germany has thrust upon Europe, much as many of our people felt distant from France in the early days of the war. The United States fortunately, probably will never experience the serious losses that France for so long, and ourselves during the past month, have experienced."

MORE MEAT, LESS BREAD GIVEN OUT IN BERLIN

HAMBURG RESIDENTS DO NOT RECEIVE AS MUCH AS AT THE CAPITAL

(By Associated Press.)
COPENHAGEN, Via London, April 23.—While Berlin has been able to furnish increased rations of potatoes and meat to compensate for the reduction in the bread ration as had been promised by the government and insisted upon by the striking workmen, other cities are less fortunate. The Hamburg newspapers as an example, announce the rationing for this week on a scale of 1380 grammes of bread, approximately 3 1/4 pounds as contrasted with 1600 grammes in Berlin and only 3 1/2 pounds of potatoes instead of the promised 5 pounds. An allowance of butter and margarine were available only in the middle of the week.

TAHOE FISHERMAN CANNOT SELL TROUT

(By Associated Press.)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 23.—With the signing by Governor Stephens of the King non-sale trout bill, which becomes a law effective October 31, market fishermen who have been plying their trade in the waters of Lake Tahoe will have to seek new occupations. In all probability they will become boatmen and guides. The non-sale bill affects the great Tahoe watershed and is said to have immense bearing on economic problems in that section of the state. Hatcheries will no longer strive to propagate the black spotted variety of trout, but can devote more time to raising more real game fish. The bill, from its inception, was actively opposed by commercial anglers, hotel men and restaurant keepers.

FOOD CONTROL TO BE ESTABLISHED

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 23.—The government's program for food control during the war was put before congress by Secretary Houston in a communication to the senate asking power for the department of agriculture to take direct supervision of food production and distribution in the United States and requesting a $25,000,000 appropriation for putting the plan into operation.

Authority was asked for the council of national defense, in an emergency, to buy and sell food products and to fix maximum and minimum prices.

As outlined in the senate, the government's plan is to first make a complete survey of the country's food supply to determine its ownership and distribution, then if necessary to license and control the operations of all concerns engaged in the manufacture of food or feeds, agricultural implements, and all material requested for agricultural purposes. Authority is sought for the agricultural department to take over and operate the concerns if that more is demanded by the public interest.

Market grades and classes for farm products, Secretary Houston said, is one of the chief needs of the country to insure proper conditions in producing and marketing farm products.

Authority also was asked for the department to require of transportation companies preference for the movement of farm machinery, seeds, fertilizers and materials that enter into the processes of food production.

In its plans for an investigation of the present food supply the agricultural department has arranged for the help of the federal trade commission, which, with the department was directed by President Wilson early in the year to make an inquiry to ascertain the amount of food stocks and to determine if the antitrust laws have been violated in food production, storage and distribution. That inquiry has been halted for lack of an appropriation. The present congress, however, has voted money for conducting it—the house the $400,000 asked, and the senate $250,000.

BELGIAN HARE WILL REDUCE THE H. C. O. L.

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—The latest recruit to the ranks in the fight against the high cost of living is the Belgian hare. Although this short-tailed, long-eared rodent is not a willing volunteer, it is expected that his services will be an aid, at least, in the combat. Thousands of these animals are raised throughout the state not only by commercial companies, but by private citizens who maintain warrens. They propagate fast and their flesh is said to be as nourishing as chicken, beef or pork, and quite palatable. A number of children who have raised them in the past as pets have taken advantage of the opportunity to make additional pocket money and are raising them for the market.

I'll Show You How Housewives of America are Saving Thousands of Dollars!

We want every housewife in TONOPAH to know what Calumet Baking Powder is—how much it means in economy and better baking. We have gone to great expense to introduce Calumet to the ladies of this city and trust you were home when our lady representative called. If you have missed her do what millions of others have done—give Calumet a trial. All the housewives who have learned of Calumet have welcomed it, and all feel many times repaid for giving it a trial on account of the splendid results they now obtain from their bakings.

Calumet has proved itself of immense value in saving money—in saving materials and in producing the most tempting and wholesome bakings.

If You Are Not Familiar With Calumet Learn the True Facts and decide for yourself. If Calumet is what we say it is—if it is what millions of housewives say it is, you want it. If it is not exactly what we claim, you won't use it. We leave the decision entirely to you, but don't allow anything to prevent your giving Calumet a trial.

Many housewives buy cheap brands with the idea they are saving money. They don't appreciate that uncertain baking powders are expensive at any price and waste vastly more than they cost. Others pay exorbitant prices supposing they are getting higher quality—when, in fact, they are paying more than the best baking powder in the world is worth.

To both classes of buyers Calumet reveals true baking powder economy. Its uniformity of quality—the highest quality that can be put into baking powder—prevents bake-day failures, spoiled materials and loss of time. Protecting you against rising food prices by insuring light, sweet, tasty pastry. It is the best baking powder that can be had—still it is moderate in price—25 cents per pound—costs less than Trust brands and but little more than cheap, unreliable brands. Calumet is economical in both cost and use.

Calumet Baking Powder is Used in Millions of Homes

by leading Domestic Science Teachers, in Domestic Science Schools, Hotels, Restaurants and Railroads. It is preferred where standards of purity and economy are highest.

Calumet is manufactured in the largest, finest equipped and most sanitary Baking Powder Plant in the world.
